

The Medicaid Redesign Team (MRT) was created by Governor Andrew M. Cuomo earlier this year to develop recommendations to reduce costs and increase quality and efficiency in New York's Medicaid Program. The workgroup on Behavioral Health Reform chaired by Linda Gibbs, Deputy Mayor of NYC and Mike Hogan, Commissioner of NYSOMH recognized the unique challenges and complexity inherent in services for children and their families. As a result, a solution-focused team, representative of the diverse interests in children's behavioral health has been formed to recommend actions to the Behavioral Health Reform Workgroup by September 20th. Interested stakeholders are invited to listen to the working meetings via webinar.
